2. Shadow

3. So umm

4.

5. I had a good first day at work, and I re-learned how to drive a stick....in a Subaru WRX. Imagine how terrified I was, $50,000 sports car with a turbo kit, haven't drove a stick in 4 years

6. Also, I pretty much went off on the whole Gab thing, and checked my Twitter....like 100 people retweeted my shit

7. juppi

8. That must have been stresfull

9.

10. Shadow

11. "Don't crash"

12.

13. "Don't crash, you're putting me behind the wheel of a Turbocharged WRX STI. Are you fucking insane? I haven't drove a stick in 4 years"

14. Then later they brought along a Subaru Legacy, which was also a Manual, and gave me the keys to that instead and I was like "Yeah, if you're gonna make me drive a stick, start me on the cars that don't go 0-60 in 3 seconds"

15. "Okay, lemme see...clutch, brake, start the car...lets off the clutch Put her in first...bring it to like 2000 rpm....car goes Hey I did it :)"

16. Norman Spear

17. Don't have choice to be on Gab or not because it got shutdown if you haven't noticed.

18.

19. Shadow

20. I know.

21.

22. Gab was the one who retweeted my rant about how asinine it is.

23. I was saying "If his cell phone provider was AT&T, would you run them out of business? If he had internet with Verizon, would you run them out of business? If he had a Bank of America account, would you run them out of business? I could go on."

24. Norman Spear

25. Oh ok. Gotcha. I just woke up.

26.

27. Shadow

28. "But companies don't have to associate with other companies"

29.

30. Me: "True, but they should hold all of the companies they associate with currently under the same standard. If that were the case, Twitter and Facebook would've been shut down well over 10 years ago. This is called targeted harassment, which is illegal"

31. Norman Spear

32. Yeah they should but obviously that not how it works in real life

33.

34. Shadow

35. I think Torba should've asked Alex Jones what hosting provider he used while he was on Infowars the other day. I mean, if Infowars the website is still running, then Torba should've asked Alex like "Hey, what hosting provider do you go through? Do you have dedicated servers? If so, where from? How much do they cost?"

36.

37. Norman Spear

38. No court of public opinion or court of law is going to convince them otherwise

39.

40. Shadow

41. It's still targeted harassment.

42.

43. Norman Spear

44. Yeah but there's a double standard so the law isn't applied equally

45.

46. Shadow

47. An update on Antitrust laws perhaps?

48.

49. Norman Spear

50. Never gonna happen

51.

52. Shadow

53. Not with the kikes in office.

54.

55. Norman Spear

56. We live under a liberal Globalist totalitarian regime

57.

58. Shadow

59. You know, in recent years I've noticed a very big flaw in our current system of government 60.

61. The actual citizens never have a say on which laws are passed and which are not

62. Norman Spear

63. Politicians are puppets

64.

65. Shadow

66. Like what if Congress had some sort of system where it's similar to Jury Selection, weeding out the people with prejudices before they get an opportunity to have a say?

67.

68. Norman Spear

69. To on late for any of that

70.

71. *too late

72. They'll never give up power willingly

73. Shadow

74. Apparently Twitter is showing that I've had 9,844 organic impressions for my thread about Gab

75.

76. That's a lot of fucking people

77. A personal goal would be to influence a similar amount of people, perhaps more, which is why I've explored the idea of becoming an independent media personality

78. Norman Spear

79. Influence people to do what?

80.
81. Shadow
82. "What is up, White Pill Nation? I'm your host, Killer Shadow, leeeeeet's get roiiiight into the newwwws!"
83.
84. Not influencing people as in "Having them take action", influencing people as in "adopting a specific set of ideas, and spreading it like a virus"
85. I'm just gonna avoid Alex Jones' mistakes of ranting about gay frogs though
86. "What do you think tap water is? It's a gay bomb, baby! And I'm not saying people didn't naturally have homosexual feelings. I'm not even getting into it, quite frankly. I mean, give me a break. Do you think I'm like, oh, shocked by it, so I'm up here bashing it because I don't like gay people? I don't like 'em putting chemicals in the water that turn the freakin' frogs gay!!! Do you understand that? UGH, UGH, SICK OF THIS CRAP!!!"
87. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Gay\_bomb
88. I mean, if Jones tried to be a little bit more accurate about this, he'd be calling Axe Body Spray a gay bomb.
89. doomsayeth
90. Get it all out man.
91.
92. Norman Spear
93. Shadow: I'd tune in to your show
94.
95. doomsayeth
96. I can see how normal men would go crazy in these mad times, without a tether to hold them to what's real.
97.
98. Shadow
99.  Norman Spear: Yeah, but here's the con. If I went Media, I probably wouldn't be able to be on here. Because doing news media while wearing a bandana or a mask? Yeah, that would spell "shady" with a capital S to any viewer 100.
101. So while a news show and development of a media personality on youtube seems like a good idea, I'd probably have to show my face.

102. and if I know anything, showing your face on the internet, unless you are intent to become a public figure either in the media or politics, is suicide

237. Arcturus

238. By active ear protection you mean electronic sets, right?

239.

240. If so, yeah, I usually use them when I shoot. I prefer it

241.

242. Norman Spear

243. 03:15 I've never used electronic ones. Do they make a noticeable difference?

244.

245. Arcturus

246. Well, you can talk normally when you're not shooting

247.

248. And generally hear things, compared to being half deaf with normal earpro
249. You can hear better than normally, actually since it amplifies the sounds. This makes them kind of fucky to use at indoor ranges though outdoors its okay
250. Norman Spear
251. juppi: just found this article that gives a pretty good overview of different types
252. <https://www.pewpewtactical.com/best-shooting-ear-protection/>
253.
254. Arcturus: i guess there's always some trade-off
255. Arcturus
256. Yeah, though honestly it's pretty minor. All it does is amplify the echoes from shooting indoors which can be annoying but not bad enough to hurt your hearing
257.
258. I'd bet electronic earpro would be a good idea in some SHTF scenario
259. be able to hear your comrades as well as potential enemies without getting tinnitus
260. I think mine (Howard Leights) use AAA batteries so it shouldn't be that big a deal to keep them in working order
261. Norman Spear
262. Yeah definitely can see how it'd be an advantage in a tactical situation
